THE LAST MILE-STONES.

Sixty years, through shine and shadow—
Sixty years, my gentle wife,
You and I have walked together
Down the rugged road of life.
From the hills of Spring we started,
And through all the Summer land,
And the fruitful Autumn country,
We have journeyed hand in hand.

We have borne the heat and burden,
Toiling painfully and slow;
We have gathered in our harvest,
With rejoicing, long ago.
Leave the uplands for our children—
They are strong to sow and reap;
Through the quiet Winter lowlands
Our level way we keep.

'Tis a dreary country, darling,
You and I are passing through
But the road lies straight before us
And the miles are short and few;
No more dangers to encounter—
No more hills to climb, true friend:
Nothing now but simple walking,
Till we reach our journey's end.

We have had our time of gladness,
'Twas a proud and happy day—
Ah! the proudest of our journey—
Then we felt that we could say
Of the children God had given,
Looking fondly on the ten;
"Lovely women are our daughters—
Our sons are noble men!"

We have had our time of sorrow—
Our time of anxious fears.
When we could not see the milestones
Through the blindness of our tears,
In the sunny summer country,
Far behind us little May
And Willie, too, grew weary,
And we left them on the way.

Are you looking backward, mother,
That you stumble in the snow?
I am still your guide and staff, dear,
Lean your weight upon me, so!
Our road is growing narrow;
And, what is it, wife, you say?
Yes! I know our eyes are dim, dear,
But we have not lost the way,

Cheer thee! cheer thee! faithful-hearted!
Just a little way before
Lies the great Eternal City
Of the King that we adore.
I can see the shining spires;
And the King, the King, my dear,
We have served him long and humbly;
He will bless us, do not fear.

Ah! the snow falls fast and heavy,
How you shiver with the cold,
Let me wrap your mantle closer,
And my arm around you fold,
We are weak, and faint, and weary,
And the sun low in the West.
We have reached the gates, my darling,
Let us tarry here and rest.

THE MYSTERIOUS WIDOW.

During the summer of 1814, the British not only laid claim to all that portion of the district of Maine lying east of Penobscot, but Admiral Griffith and Sir John Sherbrook, the latter then being the Governor of Nova Scotia, had been sent with a heavy force to take possession and occupy the town of Castine, which place commands the entrance to the Penobscot river.—Shortly before the arrival of the English squadron, Commodore Samuel Tucker had been sent around to Penobscot Bay to protect the American coasters, and while the British sailed up Castine, he lay at Thomaston.

It was a schooner that the Commodore commanded, but she was a heavy one, well armed and manned, and that she carried the true Yankee "grit" upon her deck, the enemy had received from them too many proofs. On the morning of the 28th of August, a messenger was sent down from Belfast with the intelligence that the British frigate was coming from Castine to take him, and also that Sir John Sherbrook had offered a large amount for his capture.

When the Commodore received the intelligence his vessel was lying at one of the low wharves where he would have to wait two hours for the tide to set him off, but he hastened to have everything prepared to get her off as soon as possible for he had no desire to meet the frigate.

The schooner's keel was just cleared from the mud, and one of the men had been sent upon the wharf to cast off the bowline, when a wagon drawn by one horse came rattling down to the spot. The driver, a rough-looking countryman, got out upon the wharf and then assisted a middle-aged woman from the vehicle. The lady's first inquiry was for Commodore Tucker. He was pointed out to her and she stepped upon the schooner's deck and approached him.

"Commodore," she asked, "when do you sail from here?"

"We shall sail right off, as soon as possible, madam."

"Oh, then I know you will be kind to me," the lady urged in persuasive tones.

"My poor husband died yesterday and I wish to carry his corpse to Wiscasset, where he belongs and where his parents will take care of it."

"But, my good woman, I shan't go to Wiscasset."

"If you will only land me at the mouth of the Sheepscot, I will ask no more. I can easily find a boat there to take me up."

"Where is the body?" asked Tucker.

"In the wagon," returned the lady, at the same time raising the corner of her shawl to wipe away the tears. "I have a sum of money with me and you shall be well paid for your trouble."

"Tut, tut, woman; if I accommodate you there won't be no pay about it."

The kind-hearted old Commodore was not the man to refuse a favor, and though he liked not the bother of taking the woman and her strange accompaniment on board, yet he could not refuse. When he told her he would do as she requested, she thanked him with many tears in her eyes.

Some of the men were sent upon the wharf to bring the body on board. A long buffalo robe was lifted off by the man that drove the wagon, and beneath it there appeared a neat black coffin. Some words were passed by the seamen, as they were putting the coffin on board, which went to show pretty plainly that the affair did not exactly suit them. It may have been but prejudice once in a while, when we consider the stern realities which they have to encounter.

"Hush, hush, my good men," said the Commodore, as he heard their murmured remonstrances. "Suppose you were to die away from home, would you not wish that your last remains might be carried to your poor parents? Come, hurry now."

The men said no more, and ere long the coffin was placed in the hold, and the woman shown to the cabin. In less than half an hour, the schooner was cleared from the wharf, and standing out from the bay. The wind was light from the eastward, but Tucker had no fear of the frigate now that he was once out of the bay.

In the evening the lady passenger came on deck, and the Commodore assured her that he would be able to land her early on the next morning. She expressed her gratitude and satisfaction, and remarked that before she retired she would like to see that her husband's corpse was safe This was, of course, granted, and one of them lifted off the hatch that she might go down into the hold.

"I declare," muttered Daniel Carter, an old sailor, who was standing at the wheel, "she takes on dre'fully."

"Yes, poor thing," said Tucker, as he heard her sobs and groans.

"D'ye notice what'n eye she's got?" continued Carter.

"No," said Tucker, "only it was swollen with tears."

"My eyes! but they shone though, when she stood there looking at the compass."

Tucker smiled at the man's quaint earnestness, and without further remarks he went down to the cabin.

When the woman came up from the hold she looked about the deck of the schooner for a few moments, and then went off.

There was something in her appearance that puzzled Carter. He had been one of those who objected to the coffin being brought on board, and hence was not predisposed to look very favorably upon its owner. The woman's eye ran over the schooner's deck with a strange quickness and Carter eyed her sharply. Soon she went to the taffrail and looked over at the stern boat, and then she came and stood by the binnacle again.

"Look out or you'll gib the boom," uttered the passenger.

Carter started and found that the main sail was shivering. He gave the helm a couple of strokes aport, and then cast his eyes again upon the woman, whose features were lighted by the binnacle lamp."

"Thanks, ma'am," said Dan. "Ha, hold on—why bless my soul, there's a big spider right on your hair. No—not there. Here, I'll—Ugh!"

This last ejaculation Dan made as he seemed to pull something from the woman's hair, which he threw upon the deck with the ugh above mentioned.

Shortly afterwards the passenger went below, and before long Tucker came on deck.

"Commodore," said Carter, with a remarkable degree of earnestness in his manner, "is the 'oman turned in?"

"I rather think so," said Tucker, looking at the compass. "Look out, look out, Carter! Why man alive, you're two points to the southward of your course."

"Blow me, so I am," said the man, bringing the helm smartly aport. "But say, didn't ye notice anything peculiar about the old 'oman."

"Why, Dan, you seem deeply interested about her."

"So I am, Commodore, an' so I am about the coffin, too. Wouldn't it be well for you and I to overhaul it?"

"Pshaw! you are as scared as a child in a grave yard."

"Not a bit. Just hark a bit. That 'oman aint no 'oman."

The Commodore pronounced the name of his Satanic Majesty in the most emphatic manner.

"It's the truth, Commodore—I can swear to it. I purtended there was a spider on her hair, and rubbed my hand agin her face. By Sam Hyde, if it wasn't as rough and bearded as an holy stone. You see she told me how I'de let the boom gibe, if I didn't look out.' I knew there wasn't no 'oman there, and so I tried her. Call somebody to the wheel, and let's go and look at the coffin."

The Commodore was wonderstruck by what he had heard, but with that calm presence of mind that made him what he was, sat coolly to thinking; in a few moments he called one of the men aft to relieve Carter, and then he went down to look after his passenger. The latter had turned in, and seemed to be sleeping. Tucker returned and took Carter to the side.

"No noise now, Carter; follow me as though nothing had happened."

"Sartin," replied Dan.

The two approached the main hatch, and stopped to raise it, when Dan's hand touched a small ball that seemed to have been pinned up under the afterbreak of the hatch.

"'Tis a ball of twine," said he.

"Don't touch it, but run and get a lantern," replied Tucker.

Carter sprang to obey, and when he returned a number of men had gathered about the spot. The hatch was raised, and the Commodore carefully picked up the ball of twine, and found that it was fastened to something below. He descended to the hold, and there he found the ball of twine ran in beneath the lid of the coffin. He had no doubt in his mind now that there was mischief boxed up below, and he sent Carter for something that might answer for a screw driver. The man soon returned with a sharp knife, and the Commodore set to work. He worked very carefully, however, at the same time keeping a bright look-out for the string.

"Great God in heaven!" burst from the lips of the Commodore.

"By Sam Hyde!" dropped like a thunderclap from the tongue of young Sam.

"God bless you, Dan," said the Commodore.

"I know'd it," uttered Dan

The men stood for a moment, and gazed upon the coffin. There was no dead man there but in place thereof, there was material for the death of a score. The coffin was filled with gunpowder and pitchwood. Upon a light frame work in the center were arranged four pistols, all cocked, and the string entering the coffin from without communicated with the trigger of each.

The first movement of the commodore was to call for water, and when it was brought, he dashed three or four buckets full into the infernal contrivance, and then he breathed more freely.

"No, no," he uttered, as he leaped from the hold. "No, no, men. Do nothing rashly. Let me go into the cabin first. You may follow me."

Commodore Tucker strode into the cabin, walked up to the bunk where the passenger lay, and grasping hold of the female dress, he dragged its wearer out upon the floor. There was a sharp resistance, and the passenger drew a pistol, but it was quickly knocked away—the gown was torn off and a man came forth from the remnants of calico and linen.

The fellow was assured that his whole plot had been discovered, and at length owned that it had been his plan to turn out in the course of the night and get hold of the twine, which he left in a convenient place; he intended to have gone aft, carefully unwinding the string as he went along; then to have got into the boat, cut the falls, and as the boat fell into the water he would have pulled the twine.

"And I think you know," he continued with a wicked look, "what would have followed. I should not have been noticed in the fuss—I'd have got out of the way with the boat, and you'd all have been in the next world in short order And all I can say is, that I'm sorry I didn't do it."

It was with much difficulty that the Commodore prevented his men from killing the villain on the spot. He proved to be one of the enemy's officers, and he was to have a heavy reward if he succeeded in destroying the Commodore and his crew.

The prisoner was carried on deck and lashed to the main rigging, where he was told to remain until the vessel got into port.

"What a horrid death that villain meant for us," said Carter.

"Yes, he did," said Tucker, with a shudder.

"He belongs to the same gang that's been robbin' and burnin' the poor folks' houses on the coast," said one of the sailors.

"Yes," said the Commodore, with a nervous twitch of the muscles around the mouth.

A bitter curse from the prisoner now broke on the air, and with clenched fist the Commodore went below.

In the morning, when Tucker came on deck, Seguin was in sight upon the starboard bow, but when he looked for the prisoner he was gone.

"Carter, where's the villain I lashed here last night?"

"I'm sure I don't know where he is, Commodore. Perhaps he's jumped overboard."

The old Commodore looked sternly in Carter's eyes, and he saw a twinkle of satisfaction gleaming there. He hesitated a moment—then turned away and muttered to himself:

"Well, well—I can't blame them. If the murderous villain's gone to death, he has only met a fate which he richly deserved. Better far it behim, than that my noble crew were now all in the ocean's cold grave."

☞An ignorant but conceited fellow got aboard a steamer on Lake Huron. After standing on the deck a while among the crowd, and seeing the captain approach, he inquired: 'What is the name of this Lake?' 'The Lake Huron.' 'Yes sir,' replied the man.—But the captain going no further, the stranger said: 'Well, what is the name of the Lake?' 'The Lake Huron,' again answered the captain. 'I want to know the lake I'm on—what's its name?' 'Well, sir,' said the captain; 'the name of the lake you're on is Lake Huron. Does that satisfy you?' The crowd was smiling quite audible and the man walked on, muttering to himself:

'The lake I'm on is the lake I'm on. That's a polite captain, indeed.'

☞Since Mrs. Stowe has brought up the subject of Byron's matrimonial infelicities, attention has been called to the trouble which the nuptial tie has occasioned the authors of Britain.—Some escaped by devoting themselves to celibacy, prominent among whom are David Hume, Macaulay, Charles Lamb, Goldsmith and Gibbon, though the latter, like Cowper, was crossed in love. Keats and Kirke White died single, but were too young to marry. Coleridge's married life was buried in his opium excesses. Shelley abandoned his wife, who subsequently committed suicide, while in later days Bulwer got his wife cribbed in a lunatic asylum. The latest illustration is found in Dickens, whose cup of domestic happiness has often overflowed.

Teachers' Institute of Huntingdon Co

The Huntingdon County Teachers' Institute for the present year will be held in the Court House, in the boro. of Huntingdon, commencing on Monday, December 26th, at 2 o'clock, p. m., and closing on Friday, December 30th.

Teachers, School Directors, and friends of education are respectfully invited to attend.

The law evidently contemplates that Directors shall grant teachers the time to attend the institute and count the same for teaching. This, considering the small compensation most of our teachers receive and the expenses they incur while attending the institute, is nothing more than right; but should directors, under a mistaken view refuse to grant the time, this should afford teachers no pretext for not attending, for the teacher who properly realizes the dignity and responsibility of his calling will not hesitate to make large sacrifices to promote the great cause of popular education. If every teacher in our county were to set earnestly about the work of self improvement there would soon be less complaining of low wages and a brighter day would dawn upon our schools.

This year it is intended that the work shall be done chiefly by our own teachers and it is for them to say whether it shall be done or not.

EXERCISES.

These will consist of instruction in the branches taught in our common schools, lectures, essays, &c.

Orthography and Orthoophy will be presented by R. S. Henderson.
Writing, by W. S. McPherran.
English Grammar, by Prof. H. L. Atkinson.
Arithmetic, by S. B. Taylor.
Geography, by E. White.
Map drawing, by J. H. Black.
U. S. History, by J. H. Michiner.
Geometry, by Prof J. A. Stephens.
Algebra, by Henry M. Kisbin.
Elocution, by Prof. J. W. Shoemaker, of Philadelphia.

The following subjects will be discussed:

1. Should physical culture be made one of the regular branches of study in our common schools?
2. How can pupils best be taught good manners?
3. Should singing be one of the regular branches taught in school?
4. Are our courses of study and methods of instruction sufficiently practical?
5. What disposition should a teacher make of his time out of school-hours?
6. What motives and incentives to study ought to be appealed to?
7. Does the pecuniary prosperity of a nation depend on its intelligence?
8. Are public school examinations and exhibitions advisable?
9. What is the true philosophy of illustration?
10. What are prominent causes of failure in teaching?

Messrs. Taylor and Schock are requested to open the discussion on the first named question; Rev A L Guss the second, Mr Weidman the third, Prof J A Stephens the fourth, Mr Michiner the fifth, Mr Kauffman the sixth, Messrs J P Giles and I J Atkinson the seventh, Messrs J R Baker and S D Caldwell the eighth, Messrs Cloyd, Griffin, Lightner and W R Baker the tenth.

EVENING LECTURE.

Prof Shoemaker will deliver his inimitable lecture, "How to Say things," and he will also give readings from standard authors. Other lecturers may be expected.

ESSAYS

Several essays will be read by teachers during the meeting of the institute

ROLL CALL.

The roll will be called morning and afternoon, and a correct account of the attendance of teachers will be kept and certificates of the same will be forwarded to the officers of the school boards that grant teachers either the whole or a part of the time to attend.

ACCOMMODATION, &C.

Messrs Long, Fleming and Thomas have each agreed to board teachers, directors and others attending the institute, $1 per day. As the institute is to be held on holiday week excursion tickets can probably be obtained at most points on the railroads.

MUSIC, &C.

The pupils of the Cassville Orphan School will enliven the exercises with vocal and instrumental music.

It is expected that ministers of the different denominations will be present to conduct the devotional exercises and to take part in the discussions.

It is expected that teachers generally will come prepared to take part in the exercises, While some have been named to open the discussions it is by no means intended to exclude any from taking an active part.

DIRECTOR'S DAY.

Thursday will be director's day.—The following topics will be discussed:

1st. Teacher's Salaries—what should be the basis of grading them?

2nd. Can graded schools be established in rural districts to a good advantage?

It is hoped that the directors of our county will manifest their interest in the welfare of our schools of which they are special guardians, by being present and taking an active part in the discussions.

The committee on permanent certificates will be elected on Monday afternoon. Professional certificates will be presented to teachers entitled to receive them on Friday.

Hunting Rocky Mountain Sheep.

We had been at our new camp several days, and taken all the game we wanted, when, one morning, I determined to climb the mountain peaks and have a hunt after the famous mountain sheep. My companions liked the idea of a dash at the "hard heads," and we all three set out together. The sun met us as we toiled up the steeps, and it was scarcely half an hour high when La Frombe, who was in advance, halted and pointing to a cliff half a mile distant, said:—"There they are." We looked in the direction indicated and saw a group of four sheep walking along the edge of a precipice. They had not yet discovered us, and we stood still unril they passed out of sight behind some projecting rocks, and then ran as fast as we could along the mountain side until we were directly under where we had seen our game. Carefully ascending from crag to crag, we were not long in coming upon their fresh tracts, and now we crept along, looking carefully ahead at every turn.—Presently La Frombe pointed to the right, and there, standing on a rock, scarcely two hundred yards from us, were three large sheep. We each selected a sheep—La Frombe taking the one on the left, the Santee the one in the middle, and I the farthest on the right. At a signal from La Frombe we fired together, and when the smoke cleared away saw one sheep lying on the rock. I ran as fast as I could up the rocks, and arrived in time to see the other two big horns going around the bluffs a quarter of a mile off. La Frombe had killed his game, but the Santee and I had missed our mark. I, however, noticed blood on the stones, and knowing that one of the other two was wounded, determined to follow them. Leaving La Frombe and the Santee to skin and dress the dead animal, I climbed from ravine to ravine and rock to rock for nearly an hour, and began to despair of seeing my game again, when I unexpectedly came upon some blood and tracks. I saw where the sheep had lain a few moments before, and as there was some soft soil at this point so I could follow the tracks, I crawled carefully along. I paused often to watch and listen, but could see nothing, and all was silent as only the vast solitudes of a mountain can be. I had began to descend a little, with a view of getting among some scrubby pines near by, in order the better to shield myself from observation, and just as I reached them, I saw a stately ram walking slowly along a ledge of rocks, closely followed by a small ewe. I was yet too far away to shoot with precision, and as they were moving slowly, and had not seen me, I stood still until they turned the rock. They were moving parallel with me, and I now hastened, under cover of the pines, to get ahead of them, if possible. After getting one or two falls, and nearly breaking my gun and neck over the stones, I perceived the sheep nearly above me, and not over two hundred yards distant. I crawled to the edge of the rock, and selecting an open spot where I knew the sheep would pass, rested my gun. In a moment they appeared and when the ram came opposite the end of my rifle, I fired. The old fellow dropped, rolled over, turned upon his horns, and fell over forty feet, lighting on his head,* He was desperately wounded, but still able to rise. As he steadied himself for another jump I put a third ball into him, and he lay down on the rocks. I scrambled up to him, and when he saw me he made desperate efforts to get upon his feet. He lay upon his side, his great red eyes rolling fiercely. When I went near him he bleated pitiously, and struck with his forefeet, at the same time tossing his great horns savagely about. I tried for some time to get hold of him, not wishing to shoot him again, as I had but two charges left in my gun, and I had left my ammunition-belt behind, in order to climb the better. Every time I approached he struck at me, finally, losing my patience, I pounced upon him from behind, and seizing hold of one of his horns, attempted to draw my hunting knife across his throat.—Throwing back his head with a strength that surprised me, he struck me with his horn on the knee, and almost brok my leg. It was only after a severe struggle that I was able to drive my knife into his neck and finish him.

When I had killed the ram I looked up, and there stood the doe, hardly fifty yards distant. She had been looking at the death of her mate, and now, even as I looked at her, bounded nimbly away over the rocks. I fired a shot after her, but it did not hit her, and I sat down perfectly satisfied with my ram.

I was not long in signalling my companions, and presently I heard the long "talla-ho!" of La Frombe, who was coming up the steeps below me.

I had my sheep skinned and dressed by the time they came up, and the pines affording a favorable place, we cut off some of the choice bits, roasted them on the coals, and dined.

We were all three very tired, and having had enough of sheep-hunting for one day, we rested for a couple of hours, and then, packing our meat on our backs, began the descent. It was quite late when we reached our camp, and as we were weary, and bruised by many a fall received during the day, we soon went to bed.

*Hunting the Rocky Mountain sheep is the only sport that approximates to anything like the famous chamois hunting of olden times. The flesh of these sheep is very good, but they are exceedingly difficult to kill.—When pursued by the hunter, or wounded, they will frequently throw themselves over precipices fifty feet high, and light on their horns, apparently without hurting themselves in the least.

Summary of War News.

Versailles advices say the position of the Germans has become extremely critical, and alarm prevails among all who understand the situation. Entrenchments are now being thrown up in the rear and flanks of the Prussian positions around Paris, so great is their dread of an attack by Trochu.

A special despatch says that Trochu on the 15th, made a magnificent sortie, inflicting terrific loss on the Germans.

There is great agitation concerning the designs of Russia, and it is believed there is imminent danger of a general European conflict.

☞ Senator Wilson, of Massachusetts had an interview with President Grant last week, in which the latter said, he considered that on the whole the recent election had resulted satisfactorily to the Republicans. He did not think there was anything to cause alarm for the future. The people could not be successfully drawn aside from the maintenance of the great principles of the Republican party.—What they want, in his opinion, is the payment of the public debt, the reduction of taxes, and an economical administration of the Government. The party that refuses to be drawn away by side issues, and that pursues the policy here indicated, will, in the opinion of the President, elect its candidate in 1872.

CONSTITUTIONAL CONVENTION.—Senator George Connell, of Philadelphia, has prepared a bill providing for a Constitutional Convention, which he will present to the Legislature when it meets in January. The bill is said to be objectionable in that it fixes the pay of members at $2 per day, and mileage, and makes provision for a session of nine months. No bill of the calling of a Convention should be suffered to pass unless it has incorporated in it the minority or proportional plan of choosing delegates, so that a nomination by either party will be equal to an election, and the Convention be nearly a ple as are the people of the State. We want practical hightoned business men in that Convention, and no scheming politicians.

MORE WAR.—The startling information reaches us from Europe that a new war is imminent between Russia on the one hand, and England, Austria, Turkey and Italy on the other—The trouble has arisen from Russia having given notice of the withdrawal of her assent to so much of the Treaty of Paris made in 1856, after the Crimean war, as relates to interdicting vessels of war from entering the Black Sea, and forbidding Russia from constructing or maintaining any naval or military arsenal upon its coast. The announcement has caused great excitement, and the affair is argued with so much spirit between Gortshakoff, the Russian Prime Minister, and the Prime Ministers of England and Austria, that war is considered imminent. All the powers are preparing for the conflict. Prussia is counted upon to side with Russia, while England, Austria, Turkey, Italy and France will combine against them.

THANKSGIVING.

By the President of the United States: A Proclamation.

Whereas, It behooves a people sensible of their dependence on the Almighty, publicly and collectively to acknowledge their gratitude for his favors and mercies, and humbly beseech for their continuance; and

Whereas, The people of the United States, during the year now about to end, have special cause to be thankful for the general prosperity, abundant harvests, exemption from pestilence, foreign war and civic strife; now, therefore, be it known, that I, Ulysses S. Grant, President of the United States, concurring in any similar recommendation from chief magistrates of States, do hereby recommend to all citizens to meet in their respective places of worship on Thursday, the 24th day November next, there to give thanks for the bounty of God during the year about to close, and to supplicate for its continuance hereafter.

In witness whereof I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed.

Done at the city of Washington, this 21st day of October, in the year of our Lord, one thousand eight hundred and seventy, and of the independence of the United States the ninety-fifth.

U. S GRANT.

By the President,
HAMILTON FISH, Secretary of State.

Proclamation from the Governor.

In continuance of an honored State and National custom, and in devout acknowledgment of human dependence upon Almighty favor, I do hereby appoint Thursday, the twenty-fourth day of November next, as a day of general Thanksgiving and praise, being the same day, and for the same ends and uses, set forth by his excellency, the President of the United States, in his proclamation of the 21st instant.

Pennsylvania, unsurpassed in blessings, should not be surpassed by any in acknowledging her gratitude to God. Let us, then, as citizens of the Commonwealth, abstain, as far as possible, from our usual avocations on that day, and assemble in our respective places of worship, and let us there and in the festivities of our assembled families at our cherished homes, rejoice in the goodness of God, and render thanks to Him for His lovingkindness and His abundant mercy toward us. Let our thanksgiving and our praise find expression in dedicating the day to deeds of benevolence and charity, and in ministering to and alleviating the wants of the poor, the needy and the suffering, so that all may "rejoice and be exceeding glad." "To do good and distribute, forget not; for with such sacrifices God is well pleased."

Let us invoke divine favor upon our beloved State and Nation, and pray that all who are called to administer their governments may be actuated by the "spirit of wisdom and understanding, the spirit of counsel and might, the spirit of knowledge and the fear of the Lord."

Given under my hand and the great seal of the State, at Harrisburg, this twenty-eighth day of October, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and seventy, and of the Commonwealth the ninety-fifth.

JOHN W. GEARY.

By the Governor:
F. JORDAN,
Sec'y. of the Commonwealth

☞ The Chicago Tribune, a leading Republican paper in the west, published a long and able article recently, taking ground in favor of what it calls "Revenue Reform." The article is supposed to have been written by Senator Trumbull, of anti-impeachment notoriety. The Tribune declares for free trade, which it will have at all hazards—in the Republican party if they can; if not they will have it by coalescing and uniting with the Democratic party.

If a few more factions, in this and other interests, spring up in the Republican party, its chances for securing the next President will be as slim as they were in 1856. Taking the last elections as an indication of the popular feeling, the Republicans will do well to reunite on some broad and popular platform, cease its bickerings, and bury its factional interests for the common weal of the party and the country.

TERRIBLE ACCIDENT.—On Monday afternoon of last week another terrible accident occurred in the Blair and Cambria Iron Company's mine bank, resulting in the frightful injury of Michael Derham and Thomas Doolan.—These men had charged and fired a blast, but owing to some apparent defect in the fuse, no explosion took place at the proper time. Returning they attempted to remedy the defect by using the tamping needle, but at the first blow of the sledge a terrific explosion ensued. Doolan was most severely injured, having both hands literally blown off and one eye blown out, besides being terribly burned about the face and neck. It was not thought that he could survive his injuries, but contrary to general expectation he is apparently recovering. Derham lost one eye and one finger, and had his knee-cap knocked out of place. He was also badly burned. Doolan is unmarried, but Derham has a large family depending entirely on his labor for support While it is probable that both men will escape with their lives, their injuries will probably incapacitate them from active duty in the future.—Hollidaysburg Standard.

BEST FAMILY SOAP

Liberal Inducements to Purchasers.

A Plan Deserving the Attention of Every Family.

THE MYRTLE SOAP COMPANY

is a corporation organized under the laws of the State of New York; and transacting its business through the Agency of Danforth Brothers, at 40 Murray street, New York City. It offers to the public its in boxes of 40 lbs., at $5 a box, and gives purchasers an opportunity for dividends on each box—the dividends ranging from $0 to $25,000. On each 10,000 boxes sold and as soon as each 10,000 shall be sold, there will be 327 cash dividends made, varying from $5 to $50, and amounting to $2,500. And when 80,000 boxes shall have been sold, there will be a Final Grand Dividend of $32,000—viz:

A BROWN STONE HOUSE,

Brooklyn, (the deed of which has been left with the Safe Deposit Company, 146 and 148 Broadway), in trust of the purchaser of the fortunate box, and the balance in cash dividends, from $5 to $1,000 each. There will be in 1,636 Serial Dividends, and 836 Final Dividends, making 2,501 dividends in all.

$45,000 DIVIDEND to PURCHASERS

Purchasers of the

GOLD MEDAL SOAP,

will receive a properly numbered bill of purchase for each and every box purchased, the holders of which will share in the dividends in each of the 10,000 boxes to which their bills of purchase belong, and then ALL will share in the Final Grand Dividend, when 80,000 boxes shall have been sold.

NOT A GIFT ENTERPRISE.

This should not be classed with the numerous gift enterprise humbugs. It is an honest and legitimate business plan for introducing to public notice the Superior Goods of an Established and Reputable Corporation.—The plan is set forth in detail in the Circulars of the Company, which can be had at 40 Murray street or of any of the numerous local agents, and in which reference is made, by permission to a large number of well-known business and public men as to the integrity and honorable management of the Myrtle Soap Company.

THE SOAP HAS NO SUPERIOR.

Purchasers will get a box of soap at as low a price as the same quantity can be purchased in any market; and article warranted to be of the very first quality of family and laundry soap.

It washes cleaner and quicker than any other soap with less labor.

It is invaluable to Mechanics, Printers, Painters, and others using inks, oils, &c.

It saves time, as clothes wash quicker.

It saves money, as one pound will go as far as two of ordinary soap.

It will make the best Soft Soap at a very small cost and very little labor.

It removes Grease spots, Paint, etc., from clothing.

It cleanses and softens the skin, not chapping.

It is equally good for the Bath, Toilet and Shaving.

It saves labor and clothes need less rubbing.

It will not injure the finest fabric.

It is put up in boxes, 50 bars, 40 pounds.

It is stamped with the name of the Company on each bar.

It is an article every family wants and must have.

It is an article worth every cent paid for it.

And in addition to this, without the risk or loss of one cent purchasers will share in the liberal dividends to be made.

Ask your grocer for it; if he does not keep it and will not get it, or can write to us, and we will send it to you or send you the address of the nearest grocer who keeps it.

DR. SCHENCK advises Consumptives to go to Florida in the Winter.

Having for the last thirty-five years devoted my whole time and attention to the study of lung disease and consumption, I feel that I understand fully the course that ought to be pursued to restore a tolerably bad case of diseased lungs to healthy soundness. The first and most important step is for the patient to avoid taking cold, and the best of all places on this continent for this purpose is winter, in Florida, well down in the State, where the temperature is regular, and not subject to such variations as in more Northern latitudes. Palatka is a point I can recommend. A good hotel is kept there by Potter man. Last winter I saw several persons there whose lungs had been badly diseased, but who, under the healing influence of the climate and my medicines, were getting well.

One hundred miles further down the river is a point I would prefer to Palatka, as the temperature is more even and the air dry and bracing. Tenonville and Enterprise are located there. I should give a decided preference to Melonville. It is two miles from river, or lake, and it seems almost impossible to take cold there. The ladies in Florida might be better, and patients complain at times but that is good sign, as it indicates a return of appetite, and when this is the case they generally increase in flesh, and then the lungs must heal.

Jacksonville, Hibernia, Green Cove, and many other places in various parts of Florida, can be safely recommended to consumptives in winter. My reasons for saying so are that patients are less liable to take cold there than where there is a less even temperature, and it is not necessary to say that where a consumptive person exposes himself to frequent colds he is certain to die shortly. Therefore my advice is, go well down into the State out of the reach of prevailing east winds and fogs. Jacksonville, or almost any other of the localities I have named, will benefit those who are troubled with a torpid liver, a disordered stomach, deranged bowels, sore throat, or cough, but for those whose lungs are diseased a more southern point is earnestly recommended.

For fifteen years prior to 1859, I was professionally in New York, Boston, Baltimore and Philadelphia every week, where I saw and examined on an average five hundred patients a week. A practice so extensive, embracing every possible phase of lung disease, my caution in regard to taking cold. A person may take vast quantities of "Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup, Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills," and yet die if he does not avoid taking cold.

In Florida, nearly everybody is using Schenck's Mandrake Pills, for the climate is more likely to produce bilious habits than more northern latitudes. It is a well established fact that natives of Florida rarely die of consumption, especially those of the southern part. On the other hand, in New England, one third, at least of the population die of this terrible disease. In the middle States it does not prevail so largely, still there are many thousands of cases there. What a vast percentage of life would be saved if consumptives were as easily alarmed in regard to taking fresh cold as they are about scarlet fever, small pox, &c. But they are not. They take what they term a little cold, which they are credulous enough to believe will wear off in a few days. They pay no attention to it and hence it lays the foundation for another and another still, until the lungs are diseased beyond all hope for cure.

My advice to persons whose lungs are affected even slightly is, to lay in a stock of Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup Schenck's Seaweed Tonic, and Schenck's Mandrake Pills and go to Florida. I recommend these particular medicines because I am thoroughly acquainted with their action. I know that where they are used in strict accordance with my directions they will do the work that is required. This accomplished, nature will do the rest.—The physician who prescribes for cold cough or night-sweats and then advises the patient to walk or ride out every day, will be sure to have a corpse on his hands before long.

My plan is to give my three medicines, in accordance with printed directions, except in some cases where a freer use of the Mandrake Pills is necessary. My object is to give tone to the stomach—to get up a good appetite. It is always a good sign when a patient begins to grow hungry. I have hope of such. With a relish for food and the gratification of that relish comes good blood and with it more flesh, which is closely followed by a healing of the lungs. Then the cough lessens and abates, the creeping chills and clammy night-sweats no longer prostrate and annoy, and the patient gets well provided he avoids taking cold.

Now there are many consumptives who have not the means to go to Florida. The question may be asked, is there no hope for such? Certainly there is. My advice to such is, and ever has been, to stay in a warm room during the winter, with a temperature of about seventy which should be kept regularly at this point, by means of a thermometer. Let such a patient take his exercise within the limits of the room by walking up and down as much as his strength will permit, in order to keep up a healthy circulation of the blood. I have cured thousands by this system, and can do so again. Consumption is as easily cured as any other disease if it is taken in time, and the proper kind of treatment is pursued. The fact stands undisputed on record that Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup, Mandrake Pills, and Seaweed Tonic have cured very many of what seemed to be hopeless cases of consumption. Go where you will, you will be almost certain to find some poor consumptive who has been rescued from the very jaws of death by their use.

So far as the Mandrake Pills are concerned, everybody should keep a supply of them on hand. They act on the liver better than calomel, and leave none of its hurtful effects behind. In fact they are excellent in all cases where a purgative medicine is required. If you have partaken too freely of fruit, and diarrhœa ensues, a dose of the Mandrakes will cure you. If you are subject to sick headache, take a dose of the Mandrakes and they will relieve you in two hours. If you would obviate the effect of a change of water, or the too free indulgence in fruit, take one of the Mandrakes every night or every other night, and you may then drink water and eat watermelons, pears, apples, plumbs, peaches or corn, without the risk of being made sick by them. They will protect those who live in damp situations against chills and fevers. Try them. They are perfectly harmless. They can do you good only.

I have discontinued my professional visits to Boston and New York, but continue to see patients at my office, No. 15 North Sixth Street Philadelphia, every Saturday, from 9 a. m. to 3 p. m. Those who wish a thorough examination with the Respirometer will be charged five dollars. The Respirometer declares the actual condition of the lungs, and patients can readily learn whether they are curable or not. And there is distinctly understood that the value of the medicines depends entirely upon their being taken strictly according to direction.

In conclusion, I will say that when persons take my medicines and their systems are brought into a healthy condition thereby, they are not so liable to take cold, yet no one with diseased lungs can bear even the change of atmosphere without the liability of greater or less irritation of the bronchial tubes.

Full directions in all languages accompany my medicines, so explicit and clear that any one can use them without consulting me, and can be bought from any druggist.

Letter from Three Springs.

The following is a sample local correspondence a friend sends us from Three Springs borough, in this county, under date of Nov. 19. Is there not one friend in each township and boro. who will send us the local news in their respective localities? We want the GLOBE to give the news in all parts of the county and not only of the county-seat, and as we can't be everywhere at once, we must depend upon our friends to assist us. Here is the news from Three Springs:

Wm. Cutchall, of Springfield township, shot a buck within three-fourths of a mile of this place, which weighed 217 pounds.

Abraham Lane, of Clay township, has shot eleven wild turkeys since the 1st of October.

The Rocky Ridge coal mines, which are five miles west of Three Springs, are doing an extensive trade. The Path valley farmers have been engaged since harvest hauling coal from these mines for burning lime.

The East Broad Top R. R. & Coal Company have been engaged for some weeks past, in prospecting in Clay, Cromwell and Shirley townships, for minerals. This company is also getting the right of way for the Railroad from those who are magnanimous enough to give the said company sixty feet broad through the farms.—Messrs. Ashman, Hudson, Heeter, and others in this locality, have released to this company the minerals on their lands, conditionally that the company commence operation inside of one year from date of lease.

The Three Springs people are going to observe Thanksgiving day. Preaching in the forenoon in the M. E church by Rev. E Shoemaker; services also in the evening.

COURT PROCEEDINGS.—The following criminal cases were disposed of last week:

Commonwealth vs James Barrens. Indicted for assault, was tried and found guilty.

Hugh Trimbath, indicted for rape, assault with intent to commit rape, and assault. Jury returned a verdict of guilty on the second count, and not guilty on the first and third counts.

William Smith, indicted for malicious mischief, was found not guilty, but was to pay one-third the cost and prosecutor two-thirds.

A R. McCarthy, indicted for practicing medicine without having obtained a diploma, was found not guilty and the prosecutor Dr. A. F. Conrad pay the costs.

Samuel Bowser, Jeremiah Need, Eli Shore and George Hockenberry indicted for neglecting and refusing to open a public road, were found not guilty, and Edward Horton, prosecutor, pay costs.

H B Stouffer, indicted for assault and battery, was acquitted on the ground of insanity.

George L Smith, indicted for shooting at with intent to kill, and shooting at with intent to maim, disable and disfigure, was found not guilty.

John Winsky was found guilty of assault and battery.

The same was also found guilty of resisting a constable, assault and battery on an officer, and assault and battery.

SOLD.—It is a common habit with some people in our borough to go to the coal wharf along the canal, and take for their own use without price or permission a bagfull of coal, and some nights a number of such individuals may be seen toiling through our streets with these dusty bags upon their shoulder. The other night one individual, who, by the way, sometimes buys his coal, was unfortunately out of coal, and as he wanted to keep fire over night he must get some somewhere. So he started to the above-mentioned wharf, loaded his bag with lumps and wended his way homeward, staggering with the weight of the plunder. Having got it home he at once placed it in the stove, and left it, expecting to have a bright fire and cosy room in the morning; but what was his wonder when on looking at it in the morning, he found that he had put in iron ore instead of coal.—He felt cheap, and remarked that that was the heaviest load that he had ever carried from the coal wharf.

☞To secure friends we must show ourselves friendly, and deny ourselves of much promised pleasure if it be necessary for their enjoyment, and not seek for our comfort alone, but for the happiness of those around us. A good man will show himself friendly even to his enemies. To obtain friends we must show ourselves friendly in outlooks. A cheerful smile is calculated to soften the hardest heart. If we put on a pleasant, agreeable, cheerful countenance, the result will be both pleasing and profitable. Looks and words are cheap; therefore we should show ourselves friendly in our actions—Friendly looks must be followed by friendly words. In the language of truth, angry words produce anger, but a soft answer turns away wrath.'

A GREAT MEDICAL DISCOVERY

DR. WALKER'S CALIFORNIA

VINEGAR BITTERS

Hundreds of Thousands

Bear testimony to their Wonderful Curative Effects.

WHAT ARE THEY?

They are a Gentle Purgative as well as a Tonic, possessing also, the peculiar merit of acting as a powerful agent in relieving Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver, and all the Visceral Organs

THEY ARE NOT A VILE

FANCY DRINK,

Made of Poor Rum, Whiskey, Proof Spirits and Refuse Liquors doctored, spiced and sweetened to please the taste, called "Tonics," "Appetizers," "Restorers," &c., that lead the tippler on to drunkenness and ruin, but are a true Medicine, made from the Native Roots and Herbs of California, free from all Alcoholic Stimulants. They are the GREAT BLOOD PURIFIER and A LIFE GIVING PRINCIPLE a perfect Renovator and Invigorator of the System, carrying off all poisonous matter and restoring the blood to a healthy condition. No person can take these Bitters according to direction and remain long unwell.

$100 will be given for an incurable case, provided the bones are not destroyed by mineral poison or other means, and the vital organs wasted beyond the point of repair.

For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism and Gout, Dyspepsia, or Indigestion, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys, and Bladder, these Bitters have been most successful. Such Diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood, which is generally produced by derangement of the Digestive Organs.

DYSPEPSIA OR INDIGESTION, Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Coughs, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the regions of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the offsprings of Dyspepsia.

They Invigorate the Stomach and stimulate the torpid liver and bowels, which render them of unequalled efficacy in cleansing the blood of all impurities, and imparting new life and vigor to the whole system.

FOR SKIN DISEASES, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Blotches, Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ring-Worms, Scald-Head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the skin, of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters. One bottle in such cases will convince the most incredulous of their curative effect.

Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Eruptions or Sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins; cleanse it when it is foul, and your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood pure and the health of the system will follow.

PIN, TAPE and other WORMS, lurking in the system of so many thousands, are effectually destroyed and removed. For full directions, read carefully the circular around each bottle, printed in four languages—English, German, French and Spanish.

ROSADALIS

THE Great American Health Restorer, purifies the blood and cures Scrofula, Syphilis, Skin Diseases, Rheumatism, Diseases of Women and all Chronic Affections of the Blood, Liver and Kidneys. Recommended by the Medical Faculty and thousand of our best citizens.

Read the testimony: Physicians and patients who have used Rosadalis send for our Rosadalis Guide to Health or a manac for this year, which we publish for gratuitous distribution; it will give you much valuable information.

Dr. R. W. Carr, of Baltimore says:

I take pleasure in recommending your Rosadalis as a very powerful alterative, I have seen it used in two cases with happy results—one in case of secondary syphilis, in which the patient pronounced himself cured after having taken five bottles of your medicine. The other is a case of scrofula of long standing, which is rapidly improving under its use, and the indications are that the patient will soon recover. I have carefully examined the formula by which your Rosadalis is made, and find it an excellent compound of all alterative ingredients.

Dr. Sparks, of Nicholasville, Ky., says he has used Rosadalis in cases of scrofula and secondary Syphilis with satisfactory results—as a cleaner of the blood I know no better remedy.

Samuel G. McFaddon, Murfreesboro' Tennessee, says:

I have used seven bottles of Rosadalis, and am entirely cured of Rheumatism; send me four bottles, as I wish it for my brother, who has scrofulous sore eyes.

Benjamin Bechtol, of Lima, Ohio, writes, I have suffered for twenty years with an inveterate eruption over my body; a short time since I purchased a bottle of Rosadalis and it effected a perfect cure.

Rosadalis is sold by John Read and S. S. Smith, Huntingdon, Pa., and Druggists generally.

WHAT I KNOW OF FARMING.

BY HORACE GREELEY.

XXXVIII.

AGRICULTURAL EXHIBITIONS.

I must have attended not less than fifty State or County Fairs for the exhibition (mainly) of Agricultural Machines and Products. From all these, I should have learned something, and presume I did; but I cannot now say what. Hence, I conclude that these Fairs are what they might and should be. In other words, they should be improved. But how?

As the people compose much the largest and best part of these shows, the reform must begin with them—Two-thirds of them go to a Fair with no desire to learn therefrom—no belief that they can be taught anything. Of course, not seeking, they do not find. If they could but realize that a farmer's fair might and should teach farmers somewhat that would serve them in their vocation, a great point would be gained: But they go in quest of entertainment, and find this mainly in horse-racing.

Of all human opportunities for instruction in humility and self-deprecation, the average public speaker's is the best. He hurries to a place where he has been told that his presence and utterance are earnestly and generally desired, perhaps to find that his invitation came from an insignificant and odious handful, who had some private ax to grind so repugnant to the great majority that they refuse to countenance the procedure, no matter how great the temptation. Even where is no such feud, many, having satiated their curiosity by a long stare at him, walk whistling off, without waiting or wishing to hear him. But the speaker at a Fair must compete with a thousand counter-attractions, the least of them far more popular and winning than he can hope to be. He is heard, so far as he is heard at all, in presence and competition with all the bellowing bulls, braying jacks, and squealing stallions, in the county; if he holds, nevertheless, a quarter of the crowd, he does well; but let two jockeys start a buggy-race around the convenient track, and the last auditor shuts his ears and runs off to enjoy the spectacle. Decidedly, I insist that a Fair-ground is poorly adapted to the diffusion of Agricultural knowledge—that the people present acquire very little information there, even when they get all they want.

What is needed to render our annual fairs useful and instructive far beyond precedent, I sum up as follows:

1. Each farmer in the county or township should hold himself bound to make some contribution thereto, if only a good hill of corn, a peck of potatoes, a bunch of grapes, a squash, a melon, let him send that. If he can send all of these, so much the better.—There is very rarely a thrifty farmer who could not add to the attractions and merits of a fair if he would try.—If he could send a coop of superior fowls, a likely calf, or a first-rate cow, better yet; but nine-tenths of our farmers regard a fair as something wherewith they have nothing to do, except as spectators. When it is half over, they lounge into it with hands in their pockets, stare about for an hour, and go home protesting that they could beat nearly everything they saw there.—Then why did they not try? How can we have good fairs, if those who might make the best display of products save themselves the trouble by not making any?" The average meagerness of our Fairs, so generally and justly complained of, is not the fault of those who sent what they had, but of those who, having better were too lazy to send anything. Until this is radically changed, and the blame fastened on those who might have contributed, but did not, our fairs cannot help being generally meager and poor.

2. It seems to me that the re is great need of an interesting and faithful running commentary on the various articles exhibited. A competent person should be employed to give an hour's off-hand talk on the cattle and horses on hand, explaining the diverse merits and faults of the several breeds there exhibited, and of the representatives of those breeds there present.—If any are particularly adapted to the locality, let that fact be duly set forth, with the simple object of enabling the farmers to breed more intelligently, and more profitably. Then let the implements and machinery on exhibition be likewise explained and discussed, and let their superiority in whatever respect to those they have superseded or are designed to supersede be clearly pointed out. So, if there be any new grain, vegetable, or fruit, on the tables, let it be made the subject of capable and thoroughly impartial discussion, before such only as choose to listen, and without putting the mere sightseers to grave inconvenience. A lecture room should always be attached to a fair ground, yet so secluded as to shut out the noise inseparable from a crowded exhibition. Here meetings should be held each evening, for general discussion; every one being encouraged to state concisely the impressions made on him, and the improvements suggested to him, by what he had seen. Do let us try to reflect and consider more at these gatherings, even though at the cost of seeing less.

3. The well supported Agricultural Society of a rich and populous country must be able, or should be able, to give two or three liberal premiums for general proficiency in farming. If $100 could be proffered to the owner or manager of the best tilled farm in the county, $50 to the owner of the best orchard, and $50 to the boy under 18 years of age who grew the best acre of corn or roots that year, I am confident that an impulse would thereby be given to agricultural progress. Our premiums are too numerous and too petty, because so few are willing to contribute with no expectation of personal benefit or distinction. If we had but the right spirit aroused, we might dispense with most of our petty premiums, or replace them by medals of no great cost, and devote the money thus saved to higher and nobler ends.

4. Much of the speaking at fairs seems to me insulting to the intelligence of the farmers present, who are grossly flattered and eulogized, when they often need to be admonished and incited to mend their ways. What use or sense can there be in a lawyer, doctor, broker, or editor, talking to a crowd of farmers as if they were the most favored of mortals and their life the noblest and happiest known to mankind? Whatever it might be, and yet become, we all know that the average farmer's life is not what it is thus represented; for, if it were, thousands would be rushing into it where barely hundreds left it; whereas we all see that the fact is quite otherwise. No good can result from such insincere and extravagant praises of a calling which so few freely choose, and so many gladly shun. Grant that the farming ought to be the most enviable and envied vocation, we know that in fact it is not; and, agreeing that it should be, the business in hand is to make it so. There must be obstacles to surmount, mistakes to set right, impediments to overcome, before farming can be in all respects the idolized pursuit which poets are so ready to proclaim it and orators so delighted to represent it. Let us struggle to make it all that fancy has ever painted it; but, so long as it is not, let us respect undeniable facts, and characterize it exactly as it is.

5. If our counties were thoroughly canvassed by township committees, and each tiller of the soil asked to pledge himself in writing to exhibit something at the next county fair, we should soon witness a decided improvement. Many would be incited to attend who now stay away; while the very general complaint that there is nothing worth coming to see would be heard no more. As yet, a majority of farmers regard the Fair much as they do a circus or traveling menagerie, taking no interest in it except as it may afford them entertainment for the passing hour. We must change this essentially; and the first step is to induce, by concerted solicitation, at least half the farmers in the county to pledge themselves each to exhibit something at the next annual fair.

☞ One of the newspapers mentions the case of a gentleman who married a person on account of the vigorous manner in which she wielded a sweeping brush. Some other persons have married for reasons equally extraordinary. Judge Hugh Breckenridge, of the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania, the witty author of "Modern Chivalry," whilst riding through Westmoreland county, Pa., saw a young girl who was going out to milk the cows, place her hand on the top rail of a fence, and spring over. "If you can do that again, my girl, I will marry you." The girl did so. The Judge dismounted, saw the parents of the girl, and told them that he would undertake the education of their daughter and afterwards marry her; which was done.

The late Colonel G. A., of Pittsburg, declared that he fell in love with his wife from seeing the hearty manner in which she was eating ham and eggs at a hotel in western Pennsylvania, at which they were both breakfasting.—He said to himself: "That is the woman for me!"

☞ One of the noblest cases of unostentatious benevolence on record has just come to light at the office of the Register of Wills, on the occasion of filing the will of Miss Holland, deceased, who left three hundred thousand dollars in legacies to various public institutions, religious societies, etc., with a direction that no public notice of it should be made. This noble-hearted woman has been all her life giving money through the agency of others in order not to be known and her parting liberality only came to light accidentally from some of the reporters happening to be present when the will was filed.

ADDRESS

TO THE

NERVOUS AND DEBILITATED.

WHOSE SUFFERINGS HAVE BEEN PROTRACTED

FROM HIDDEN CAUSES, AND WHOSE

CASES REQUIRE

PROMPT TREATMENT.

TO RENDER EXISTENCE DESIRABLE

If you are suffering, or have suffered, from involuntary discharges, what effect does it produce upon your general health? Do you feel weak, debilitated, easily tired? Does a little extra exertion produce palpatation of the heart? Does your liver, or urine organs, or your kidneys, get out of order? Is your urine sometimes thick, milky or flecky, or is it ropy on settling? Or does a thick skum rise to the top? Or is a sediment at the bottom after it has stood awhile? Do you have spells of short breathing or dyspepsia? Are your bowels constipated? Do you have spells of fainting, or rushes of blood to the head? Is your memory impaired? Is your mind constantly dwelling on this subject? Do you feel dull, listless, moping, tired of company, of life? Do you wish to be left alone, to get away from everybody? Does any little thing make you start or jump? Is your sleep broken or restless? Is the lustre of your eye as bright? Do you enjoy yourself in society as well? Do you pursue your business with the same energy? Do you feel as much confidence in yourself? Are your spirits dull and flagging, given to fits of melancholy? If so, do not lay it to your liver or dyspepsia. Have you rest less nights? Your back weak, your knees weak, and have but little appetite, and you attribute this to dyspepsia or liver complaint?

Now, reader, self-abuse, venereal diseases badly cured, and sexual excesses, are all capable of producing a weakness of the generative organs. The organs of generation, when in perfect health, make the man. Did you ever think that those bold, defiant, energetic, persevering, successful business men are always those whose organs are in perfect health? You never hear such men complain of being melancholy, of nervousness, of palpitation of the heart. They are never afraid they cannot succeed in business; they don't become sad and discouraged, they are always polite and pleasant in company of ladies, and look you and them right in the face—none of your downcast looks or any other meanness about them. I do not mean those who keep the organs inflated by running to excess. These will not only ruin their constitution, but those they do business with or for.

How many men, from badly cured diseases, from the effects of self abuse and excesses, have brought about that state of weakness in these organs that has reduced the general system so much as to induce almost every other disease—idiocy, lunacy, paralysis, spinal affections, suicide, and almost every form of disease humanity is heir to—and the real cause of the trouble scarcely ever suspected, and have doctored for all but the right one.

DISEASES OF THESE ORGANS REQUIRE THE USE OF A

DIURETIC.

COUGHS, SORE THROAT, ETC

No medicine or treatment can excel the powerful curative power of

DR. SIMMS'

WHITE PULMONIC BALSAM.

It cures with a rapidity unequalled by any other remedy offered for throat and lung diseases. It is recommended by over 2,000 persons in Wilmington, and hundreds in Philadelphia, Baltimore and other cities and communities throughout the country. Mr. Pennington, of Wilmington, Illinois, writes that there is not (with a few exceptions) a family in that city who will be without it if possible to procure it. Such is its popularity wherever it is known—and this popularity arises from the fact that it universally cures all who use it. There is no case of

COUGHS, COLDS, SORE THROAT,

ASTHMA, BRONCHITIS, CROUP,

BLOOD SPITTING, HOARSENESS, and even Pulmonary Consumption, where the system is not broken down with the wear of the disease, or pretended medicine, or inexperienced advice, that this Balsam will not cure if carefully used according to directions. We guarantee it all we represent it be, and invite a trial from the afflicted everywhere. Price 50 cts., medium size, and $1 for large size bottles. Prepared only by
